Wood Firebox

The FS700 combines the timeless appeal of a freestanding wood fire with the performance and refinement expected in a premium heating solution. Designed to make a confident statement within the home, it delivers powerful, reliable warmth while creating the unmistakable ambience of a real wood-burning fireplace. Its freestanding design offers both versatility and presence, making it an ideal feature for interiors that value comfort, character and enduring style. With the flexibility to be positioned more independently within the home, it offers a less permanent alternative to a built-in fireplace without compromising on heat output. The FS700 is the perfect balance of practical heating performance and elevated design.
